Dear Sol,

Assignment, Patent Application

I understand that in recent discussions you expressed some concerns in relation to the assignments Chase asked you to sign ("Assignments") relating to its patent applications titled "System and Method for Integrating Trading Operations Including the Generation, Processing and Tracking of and Trade Documents" ("Patent Applications").

The purpose of this letter is to set out our respective undertakings and agreement in relation to the concerns you expressed -

1. You do not warrant the validity of any patent arising from the Patent Applications. Chase is to bear responsibility for all decisions, cost and risk relating to pursuit of the Patent Applications.
2. Chase acknowledges that you have the right to continue to use your general skill and knowledge in the manner the law permits and, in this context, has no objection to your continuing to use the general commercial skill and knowledge (including matters relating to industry practices) which you have learned over the years, provided of course they are not confidential to Chase or otherwise the subject of intellectual property rights of Chase.
3. Chase agrees that:
 - (a) notwithstanding the Assignments, you have the right, if you decide at some future date to do so, to take proceedings to challenge the validity of any of the patents granted pursuant to the Patent Applications, if you believe the patents (or any of their claims) are invalid, and
 - (b) if any such proceedings are successful, Chase will reimburse you for all reasonable legal costs you incur in instituting and prosecuting the proceeding.

4. You have indicated that you do not wish to incur any personal liability to any third party who may take action against you by reason of your being named as inventor, or applicant and inventor, in the Patent Applications or any patent granted pursuant to them.

Chase -

- (a) releases you from any liability whatsoever to it or to any other party in relation to any such claim, and

- (b) will indemnify you in relation to any such claim and costs incurred by you.

Chase will have the responsibility for the costs of, and has the right to conduct, the defence of any such claim.

You will provide reasonable assistance to Chase in the conduct of that defence.

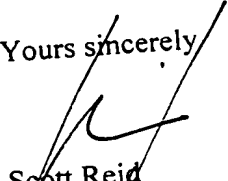

5. The Patent Application, and any related patent office documentation, may identify you as an inventor, or an applicant and inventor. However, Chase agrees not to use your name (whether as an inventor or as otherwise associated or affiliated with the system and method described in the Patent Applications) in any sales or marketing literature, or other publicity or promotion relating to that system and method, without your prior written consent.

6. You will duly sign and return with the signed duplicate of this letter the assignments provided to you by Chase.

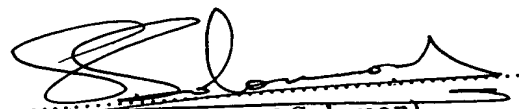

If you agree to the contents of this letter, I ask you to sign and return the enclosed duplicate.

I confirm that I have authority to agree to these matters on behalf of Chase.

Yours sincerely

Scott Reid
Managing Director
for and on behalf of
The Chase Manhattan Bank

I agree to the above.
